Join us for a discussion with four faculty from the Divisions of the Social Sciences and Humanities about this year’s UChicago Common Book Initiative selection, The Best We Could Do by Thi Bui. The panelists will explore ways in which the graphic novel approaches the politics of migration, citizenship, and the right of asylum.

Thursday, March 7

4:30 - 6 p.m.

Social Science Research Building, Room 122

Moderator

Adom Getachew
Neubauer Family Assistant Professor of Political Science and the College

Mark Philip Bradley
Bernadotte E. Schmitt Distinguished Service Professor, Department of History
Deputy Dean, Division of the Social Sciences
Faculty Director, Pozen Family Center for Human Rights

Kimberly Kay Hoang
Associate Professor, Department of Sociology

Vu Tran
Assistant Professor, Department of English Language and Literature
Director of Undergraduate Studies in Creative Writing, Committee on Creative Writing

Register now at bit.ly/CBIEvent